

Feedback on Events Organised by DHR Communications

"I have attended many such conferences in the past and I found the efficiency in the organisation of the conference to be of an exceptionally high standard. The Chairman's handling of the conference proper ensured the day's proceedings went very smoothly."

Feedback from a speaker at the 'Seen But Not Heard' conference organised to mark Ballymun Youth Action Project's 30th anniversary, March 2011

"Thanks so much for the sterling job you and the rest of the team at DHR did with regard to organising today's event. I am so impressed by what you pulled off – and how well you did it – in such an acutely short space of time."

Feedback from representative of the Dignity Project following the Dignity Project Conference, February 2011

"I very much enjoyed the conference and it was good to meet a wide range of people involved in promoting interculturalism... Well done on the report [final report produced by DHR Communications on behalf of the European Cultural Foundation] – it is not easy, I am sure, to distil down all the various points of views from the national conversations into an easy-to-read, succinct document – and the conference."

Feedback from a participant in the European Cultural Foundation's 'How People Live their Lives in an Intercultural Society' conference, June 2010

“Well done! Great day out for the family and individuals; great variety of stalls and events during the whole day. We got a lot of positive feedback at our tent from people attending the event. It is a great opportunity to raise awareness for Irish Aid and every organisation / group displaying.”

Feedback from an NGO that participated in the ‘Education Zone’ at Africa Day Dublin, May 2010

“I just wanted to say thanks and well done; the event passed off seamlessly; really happy with how it went. Congrats to all for the great day.”

Feedback from the Joint Consortium on Gender Based Violence, following the conference on ‘Women, Peace and Conflict’, November 2008

“A short note of thanks for the effort you put into organising the successful trip to Brussels on behalf of the EQUAL programme. The ‘strike’ rate was excellent and the context was conducive to informal and relaxed discussion.”

Feedback from a representative of the EQUAL Community Initiative, following DHR Communications’ work on a briefing about the Initiative for MEPs, November 2007
